

TURIN, Italy—On a clear day, in this pleasant, busy former capital of unified Italy, the spectacular show-capped Alps stand as an enticing backdrop.

But since Turin is also the Detroit of Italy, the Alps are often hidden in thick, soupy clouds so familiar to residents of Los Angeles. Smog is not an American oddity.

And neither is traffic which, during rush hours, clogs the narrow streets and broad boulevards and makes the visitor wonder why he has traveled so far to find the same apparently unsolvable problems which afflict U.S. metropolitan areas.

"It is," says an official at the Fiat plant, "a necessary part of progress." That, too, sounds familiar.

With the exception of Venice (where city fathers have kept the city free of automobiles; motor boats and rising water are the problems there), Italian cities — from Milan in the north to Naples in the south — are slowly suffocating, "a necessary part of progress."

Because la dolce vita is within the grasp of so many Italians—more than enough has been said about the authentic economic miracle here—the time for suffocation is that much closer. Film-maker Federico Fellini made the ultimate statement in this regard several years ago, you may remember.

In "8½," the hero is first glimpsed trapped in a mind-bending traffic snarl near Rome in which nothing moves. The end of the world, perhaps? Jean Luc Godard made the same comment in "Weekend."

It is pretty much the same throughout Europe. Frankfurt, Stuttgart, Hamburg, Brussels, London, Stockholm, Paris: The price of progress is high.

In Italy, Fiat provides a good example of this sort of progress. The company (Fiat means "Fabbrica Italiana Automobili Torino") was founded in 1899 with only 50 employees; now the payroll numbers about 168,000 people.

Its giant Mirafiori plant in Turin covers the complete cycle of operations from the foundry to the finished mechanical product. Not even General Motors, the local behemoth, makes its own steel. In 1968, the company produced some 1.5 million passenger cars making it, next to Volkswagen, the largest automaker outside the United States.

While the U.S. market has always been important to Fiat, only recently has it been able to produce the sort of automobiles demanded by Americans. In the early '50s, it offered the smaller products which couldn't cope with American driving habits and, admitting defeat, all but pulled out.

Today, however, the company is moving up fast. In fact, the latest figures from R. L. Polk & Co. show that in August, Fiat had pushed aside Volvo to become the country's fifth largest-selling import.

Because the figures are interesting, they are shown here (January-August 1969):

1. Volkswagen 323,211
2. Toyota 70,860
3. Opel 65,341
4. Datsun 37,023
5. Fiat 26,374
6. Volvo 22,563
7. Mercedes 14,785
8. Cortina 13,671
9. MG 13,643
10. Triumph 11,429

Once, not too long ago, the figures were practically reversed and the two Japanese products, Toyota and Datsun, did not appear on anybody's list.

Fiat, it is clear, is not to be sneezed at, even by King of the Mountain Volkswagen.

But while the world plays the automobile numbers game and Fiat slugs it out with VW, the highways clog and the pollution smothers us, "a necessary part of progress."

Draft Critics Say Youths to Be in Doubt

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's draft lottery system to bring out a talent among the country's 18-year-olds for figuring mathematical probabilities.

Critics say the plan will leave most young men guessing about just when they might be called the following year and their chances for escaping the draft entirely.

But armed with a few basic figures those guesses can get pretty close. And some men won't have to guess at all.

The plan for drafting 19-year-olds first on a lottery basis is likely to pass the House late this week. It is still an open question in the Senate.

The 365 birthdates for the following year would be drawn out of a fish bowl at a public lottery in late September or early October each year.

There's little guesswork for able-bodied men whose 19th birthdays fall on the first dates drawn: they'll be among the first men called early the next year.

And men with birthdays on the last 150 or more dates drawn will likely escape the draft entirely.

Everybody else will have to take out his scratchpad and pencil and start figuring the odds on the basis of the number of men in the draft pool and the rat at which they're being called up each month.

If the system were in effect now, as Selective Service officials explain it, 18-year-olds would figure there would be something like 600,000 available for the draft next year after rejects and deferments.

Draft calls hopefully will drop off to something like 200,000 from this year's 300,000 plus.

That would mean men with birthdays on the last 200 or so dates drawn in the lottery would likely escape the draft and those with the first 100 birthdates drawn would probably be called. The remaining 65 birthdates would be borderline cases.

The callups vary from month to month but a man who drew the 100th date could figure he'd be called near the end of the year, a man who drew 50 would probably be called about mid-year.

Students and technical people getting deferments would draw their draft eligibility placement for their 19th years like everyone else and would come back into the draft pool with that same placement when their deferments ended four years later.

All this is how the lottery system is to work when it is well established.

The first year, however, would be a transitory one in which all men between 19 and 25, not just 19-year-olds, would be subject to the draft under the system.

State Plant Under Defense Dept. Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal agencies are investigating Selb Mfg. Co. of Walnut Ridge to see if it abused a Defense Department contract as alleged by a syndicated Washington columnist.

Jack Anderson, the columnist, has said in his column that plant abused a contract on the F11 aircraft by arranging to have an inspector approve weldings that did not meet specifications.

State policemen are civil servants whose primary responsibility is to enforce the laws and regulations governing the use of highways. In some states, they also may investigate crimes, such as thefts, murders and narcotics violations.

While most of the 300,000 state troopers across the nation spend the great bulk of their time out on the highways, some engage in specialized work, such as fingerprint classification, chemical or microscopic analysis, instruction of trainees, piloting police aircraft or serving with special units, such as mounted police, canine corps and harbor patrols.

The largest force is in California, with about 3,000 officers; the smallest is in Nevada, with fewer than 100.

Opportunities for state police jobs are regarded as excellent for qualified applicants.

Employment is expected to rise rapidly through all of the 1970s. Most of the increase will be needed for highway patrol and related activities, but part will be needed in criminal investigation and other functions.

Because law enforcement is increasingly complex, future officers will need training in such areas as scientific criminal investigation and police administration. Some specialists will be needed in the expanding crime laboratories and electronic data processing centers.

State civil service regulations govern appointments. Other entry requirements vary by state, but usually applicants must be at least 21. Most states also require a high school education or an equivalent combination of education and experience.

Officers also must pass a competitive examination and meet physical and personal requirements. Often, tests of strength and agility are required.

Honesty, good judgment and sense of responsibility are especially important in police work. Thus, investigation of an applicant's character traits and background is necessary.

In all states, a training program extends over several months. Recruits receive classroom instruction in state laws and jurisdictions, study accident investigation, patrol, traffic control and other procedures. They learn to use firearms, defend themselves from attack, handle an automobile at high speeds, administer first aid and deal with other emergencies.

High school courses in English composition, reading comprehension, American history, civics and government, psychology, sociology and physics are helpful in preparing for a career in police work. Physical education and sports activities also are useful in developing stamina and agility.

As a general rule, recruits must serve a probationary period ranging from six months to two years or more. After specified periods of time, officers become eligible for promotion, and most states have merit systems.

Conferences with high school and Employment Service counselors are suggested along with interviews with state police officers in your area.

Added facts about the occupation of a policeman can be obtained by writing the International Association of Chiefs of Police, 1319 18th Street NW, Washington, D.C.

Soviet-China Talks Make No Progress

By ANTHONY C. COLLINGS
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — Conflicting Soviet statements raised the prospect of no progress in the border talks with China starting in Peking today.

Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov arrived in Peking Sunday and said, "We hope the talks will be fruitful and will benefit our countries and peoples."

But in Moscow, Mikhail Suslov, top ideologist and member of the Communist party's 11-man politburo, accused the Chinese leaders of an "adventurist, chauvinistic policy."

Kuznetsov's remarks in Peking and excerpts from Suslov's article in the party journal Kommunist were distributed Sunday by Tass, the official Soviet news agency. It did not report any remarks by Communist China's Deputy Foreign Minister, Chiao Kuan-hua, who welcomed the Soviet delegation to Peking.

Negotiations to settle disputes over the long border between China and Soviet Siberia were broken off more than five years ago. The situation became tense last spring when shooting broke out at several points.

Premier Alexei N. Kosygin made a surprise visit to Peking Sept. 11 and met with Premier Chou En-lai. Nearly a month later China announced agreement to open talks.

Tass quoted Kuznetsov as saying the talks would involve "questions of interests to both sides." Some saw this as an indication that more than border issues might be discussed.

Monday, October 20, 1969

Suslov did not mention the border talks in his article in the leading party theoretical and political journal. But he did make the sharpest anti-Chinese criticism to appear in the Soviet press since the Kosygin-Chou meeting.

Fiery Race for Mayor in Atlanta

By RAY BELL
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Voters pick the winner today of a fiery race for mayor livened by last-minute charges of campaign irregularity and anti-Semitism.

The city's 218,000 registered voters had a choice between Sam Massell, a Democrat and present vice mayor, and Rodney Cook, a Republican alderman and state legislator.

Retiring Mayor Ivan Allen Jr., a fellow Democrat, had urged Massell to quit the race on the ground that he "badly used his position" during the campaign. Massell struck back Monday at a news conference, declaring:

"Money and power shall not dictate to the electorate."

Massell said he was being opposed by a five-man big business "power pack," including Allen and Cook, because they could not control him and because he is Jewish.

Allen, who did not seek reelection, urged Massell Sunday to withdraw his candidacy because a police captain assigned to his campaign was called on to accompany Massell's brother on fund-raising visits to nightclubs.

Massell replied that his brother had used "bad judgment" but denied any personal wrongdoing.

Negroes who make up nearly 40 per cent of the eligible voters generally were regarded as the key to the election.

In balloting two weeks ago, Massell led Cook by some 4,205 votes but did not receive a majority.

Dr. Horace E. Tate, the city's first black candidate for mayor since Reconstruction, who finished third in the eight-man field two weeks ago, endorsed Cook in the runoff.

First Bank Holding Co. in Arkansas

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — First Arkansas Bankstock Corp. and Arkansas First National Bank of Hot Springs have agreed to create Arkansas' first registered bank holding company, contingent on the approval of the Federal Reserve Board.

Edward M. Penick, president of First Arkansas Bankstock Corp. (FABCO) and Thomas W. Stone, president of Arkansas First National Bank, announced the agreement.

FABCO owns 99 per cent of the outstanding shares of Worthen Bank and Trust Co. and Arkansas First National Bank of Hot Springs.

Stone said that under the agreement, banks such as Arkansas First National, would be able to benefit from the total assets of the holding company while operating as a separate corporate entity with local administration by its own officers and board of directors.

Stone would be added to the Board of Directors of FABCO under the arrangement and would continue as president and director of Arkansas First National Bank. No other personnel changes are planned.

JUDSONIA, Ark. (AP) — Judsonia, which has purchased its water from Searcy and Bald Knob in the past, now has its own water system.

Mayor Jimmy Miller announced that the community-owned system began operation Monday. The system, which was constructed with funds provided by a $400,000 bond issue, was designed to serve 4,000 customers.

not willing to detail in advance conditions for use of Okinawa as a major U.S. military outpost in the western Pacific.

But Japan will take over the job of actually defending the strategic chain with its own sea, ground and air defense units, they said.

The U.S. base on Okinawa would be operated under the same conditions as prevail on other U.S. military bases in Japan under the existing security treaty between the two nations.

After June, 1970, the security treaty can be terminated by either side on one year's notice.

The United States would be obliged to hold prior consultations with the Tokyo government on military movements in and out of the island base, and storage of nuclear weapons on Okinawa would no longer be permitted after the Japanese flag is raised over the islands.

WANTS AGNEW

Rogers said, "on the whole, it seemed to me that a great many of the demonstrators wished principally to register dramatic but dignified expression of their deep concern for peace in Vietnam. And we listened to these voices with respect—because we, too, have a deep concern for peace in Vietnam."

And the Republican national chairman, declaring flatly that President Nixon is "bringing our involvement in Vietnam to an end," accused administration critics of playing politics over policy.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland dismissed Nixon critics as "sound officers."

Scott's written statement, volunteered late Monday, did not mention Agnew. But a source close to the GOP leader made clear the statement was prompted by Agnew's Sunday attack on the war protest movement.

Agnew, in New Orleans, said leaders of the protest movement are "hard core dissidents and professional anarchists."

The vice president said they are being encouraged by "an effete corps of impudent snobs who characterize themselves as intellectuals."

Scott said the American people have heard "enough of invective against Americans who feel a different way."

At the same time, Scott said, Nixon already has responded to public opinion "with significant moves in the direction of peace."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee which will open a week of Vietnam hearings next Monday, called the Agnew speech undignified. He accused the vice president of "very poor manners."

TESTIMONY

Spelman said that although three months have passed since Miss Kopechne's burial in nearby Larksville it still would be possible to make many observations and draw valid conclusions.

"The fact that her body was found in a car underwater," he added, "raises the possibility in my mind that significant injury might have occurred."

The car driven by Kennedy plunged from a narrow bridge into a pond on Chappaquiddick Island off Massachusetts.

U.S. MERCHANT

their vessels in other countries where taxes are lower, crews come cheaper and maintenance costs are down.

The runaway fleet supposedly is under the "effective control" of the United States in an emergency, but the seagoing labor unions say this hasn't worked during the Vietnam war.

The shortage problem is particularly reflected in wartime. The United States learned in both Korea and Vietnam that the military shipping service cannot keep up with the nation's needs.

But while the United States has a lowered its maritime strength to shrink, the Soviet Union has taken an opposite course.

Spurred by a ship shortage during the 1962 Cuban crisis, Russia has been building merchantmen at the rate of a million deadweight tons a year and today ranks only behind Great Britain and Japan in cargo vessels.

Here is how the major maritime nations line up by Ships and Deadweight Tons (millions):

United Kingdom 1840, 29,917; Japan 1776, 29,220; USSR 1634, 11,9; Liberia 1613, 45,145; Norway 1308, 30,593; United States 967, 15,346.

Deadweight tons is the amount in long tons of cargo, fuel, crew and supplies that a ship can carry.

Can the United States overcome its shipping shortage? A spokesman for the Ship Building Council of America says yes.

He said there are 25 yards that could build general ships, including five or six capable of handling the 250,000-ton vessels planned to carry oil from the new Alaska fields.

A major problem in revitalizing the U.S. maritime industry is expense. The cost of building ships in the United States is high. As an example, a ship costing $10 million in Japan probably would run $20 million in this country.

At the present time the U.S. government has a shipping subsidy but only 14 scheduled liners share it. The subsidy, totaling about $300 million a year, falls in two categories—operational and construction.

Under the operational subsidy, the government picks up the tab for the difference between U.S. wages and those paid cheaper foreign crews. The construction subsidy permits the government to pay up to 55 per cent of the cost of a vessel.

While there is a difference of opinion on how the United States should revitalize its position, maritime forces say there should be an overall program to cover foreign trade, shipbuilding, the inland waterways and the fisheries.

The challenge is also found in a new area of shipping. According to Paul Hall, SIU president, the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959 "made the Great Lakes the fourth seacoast of the United States, enabling ocean-going vessels to carry their cargoes from the Atlantic Ocean into the heartland of the American continent."

The volume of trade is underscored by the fact, Hall said, that "more tons of cargo pass through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie each year than transit the Panama Canal" and the seaway is closed about four months a year because of ice.

The American Great Lakes fleet is very over age. About 45 per cent of the fleet was built before 1915 and, Hall noted, "not a single new U.S. flag vessel has joined our Lakes fleet since 1961."

And he concluded:

"The Russian maritime threat, so manifest on the high seas, is no less serious along our fourth seacoast. This past year, ships flying the hammer-and-sickle made 19 trips through the St. Lawrence Seaway carrying ocean going import-export cargo into the Great Lakes. And the United States flag fleet made the same number of trips—19."

Infant Killed in Wreck at Russellville

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)

—A two-car crash Monday on U.S. 64 about three miles west of here claimed the life of one-month-old Joseph Lemoyne Nowell of London and injured seven other persons.

Officers said the accident occurred when a car driven by Robert Honaker, 19, also of London attempted to pass another vehicle and collided head-on with a car driven by Margaret S. Nowell, 24, of London. The child was a passenger in the latter vehicle.

In addition to the two drivers, five passengers in the Honaker vehicle were injured.

Officer Called Home in Army Graft Hearing

By BOB HORTON

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has abruptly recalled a general from Europe to the Pentagon for what may be further sensational testimony in a Senate investigation of military graft.

The Army said Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole was being reassigned indefinitely to Washington "in connection with the current Senate hearings on alleged irregularities" in noncommissioned officers' club operations.

The Army didn't go further officially, but Pentagon sources said Cole's name has figured in military reports on the irregularities which have been turned over to a subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Committee sources said Cole, who turned 50 today and is a native of Madison County, Neb., is expected to be questioned although he has not yet been subpoenaed.

Ribicoff's panel is scheduled to resume hearings Wednesday.

The sessions recently produced testimony that a group of sergeants profiteered at the expense of NCO clubs and that Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner, former provost marshal general, sold police-confiscated guns for personal gain.

It was understood the subcommittee wants to question Cole about his tour in Vietnam as deputy chief of staff for personnel and administration in 1966 and 1967—a job which made him a chief overseer of NCO club operations.

It was during that general period when M. Sgt. William Higdon, named in previous Senate testimony, was chief custodian of several service clubs in Vietnam.

Higdon, quoted by one hearing witness as having said a club custodian job "is worth $150,000 a year," ran clubs in the Long Binh area from July 1966 to July 1968.

He was one of several sergeants who joined former Sgt. Major of the Army William O. Wooldridge in forming a corporation which did a million-dollar-a-year business with NCO clubs.

Subcommittee sources said Cole also may be questioned about any relationship he had with William Crum, associated with a Hong Kong-based firm called Sari Electronics which sold slot machines to enlisted men's clubs.

Police Going After the Zodiac Killer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A meeting of seven police agencies from an area terrorized by the Zodiac killer has developed a general strategy aimed at identifying and capturing him.

But, says Police Capt. Martin Lee of San Francisco, "I can't say we're any closer to catching him."

Lee told newsmen after the three-hour closed session Monday that he could not reveal the strategy. But he said that "handwriting, ballistics and fingerprint experts linked the same man" to five slayings in the San Francisco Bay area since last Dec. 20.

In another development, Walt Rile of the San Francisco Crime Laboratory said the best clue may be the gun used to kill four of the victims—a 9 mm pistol of which only 143 have been sold in the past three years in this area. The fifth victim was stabbed.

"It's a gun for killing," he said. "It has a terrible impact quality."

Permit applications for persons who bought such guns are being checked for comparison with handwriting on the Zodiac notes.

Police have said they believe they are dealing with a madman. He has boasted of the slayings in telephone calls to police and notes to newspapers starting, "This is Zodiac speaking." He has written cryptograms which he says give clues to his identity.

In a recent threat, he envisioned "picking off the kiddies as they come bouncing out of a schoolbus. Up to 70 police units are accompanying school buses as a precaution."

Lee said he thinks the conference gave officers "a stronger and better picture" of the man they're hunting.

"Christ of the Andes," the peace statue erected by Chile and Argentina at Uspallata Pass in the Andes, symbolizes peace between the two countries.

Somalia Is Taken Over by Military

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP) — Mogadishu Radio announced today that the army and police took control of Somalia at 3 a.m. today in the wake of the assassination of President Abdirashid Ali Shermarke.

The broadcast said the new regime would continue Shermarke's policies.

The frontiers and the airports have been closed, the announcement said.

Shermarke was assassinated by a member of his police guard during a tour last week of drought areas in northern Somalia. The country had been calm following the assassination, apparently because Shermarke and the alleged killer were from the same clan.

Shermarke, who was elected in June 1967, was given a state funeral in Mogadishu Monday. The parliament had been expected to elect his successor within a month, and acting President Muktar Mohamed Hussein was among the leading candidates.

Hussein moved into the acting presidency from the presidency of the national assembly.

The Somali Embassy in Nairobi said a junta had been formed and had replaced the government of Prime Minister Mohamed Ibrahim Egal, the head of the Somali Youth League.

Shermarke became prime minister of Somalia in 1960 when the Texas-size territory of 4.5 million people gained independence after years of rule by the Italians and the British.

Located at the tip of East Africa, Somalia is one of the hottest countries in the world and its people are nomadic cattle-men and traders. It is bordered by French Somaliland, Ethiopia and Kenya.

Skies Clear Over Most of Arkansas

Cooler temperatures greeted Arkansas today as a rejuvenated cold front sped southeastward across the state, bringing with it clear skies.

Numerous light showers occurred across Arkansas today as a rejuvenated cold front sped southeastward across the state, bringing with it clear skies.

The frontal system which was stationary from Lake Michigan to New Mexico early Monday morning began moving southeastward as an active cold front during the day and by midnight had cleared the skies over Arkansas.

Numerous light showers occurred along and ahead of the front but produced only insignificant amounts of rainfall. The largest rainfall measurement reported was .16 of an inch at El Dorado. A trace of rain was recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today at Fayetteville, Harrison, Pine Bluff, Texarkana and Little Rock.

Highs Monday ranged from 90 at Texarkana to 75 at Fayetteville. Overnight lows included 35 at Fayetteville, 45 at Fort Smith, 46 at Harrison.

Boundary Dispute to U.S. Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court received and ordered filed Monday a special judges' report favoring the Tennessee position in a boundary dispute with Arkansas.

U. S. District Court Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye of Minnesota, appointed by the Supreme Court to act as special master in the case, recommended that the state line be drawn so as to give Tennessee possession of a strip of land on the Mississippi River near Memphis known as Armstrong's Bar.

The high court gave parties to the suit until Dec. 4 to file exceptions.

Arkansas brought the suit claiming the land, actually across the river from Tennessee.

The dispute centers on the river's role as boundary between the two states. When both were admitted to the union, the boundary was set as the middle of the steamboat channel on the Mississippi.

Arkansas said the land in dispute originally was on its side of the river but went to Tennessee when the river gradually drifted westward. Arkansas said it regained the land when the river channel later moved back to the east.

Tennessee said the river did gradually drift westward but that the move back to the east was the result of a drastic shift, or avulsion, and not gradual erosion and accretion.

Judge Nordbye noted that the Supreme Court has held that in deciding such cases: "When the bed and channel are changed by the natural and gradual processes known as erosion and accretion, the boundary follows the varying course of the stream; while if the stream for any cause, natural or artificial, suddenly leaves its old bed and forms a new one, by the process known as an avulsion, the resulting change of channel works no change of boundary."

Nordbye said evidence supported a finding that the initial drift of the river set the boundary in the Cow Islands Vendway Channel, now inland on the Arkansas side of the river. He said the boundary remained there after an avulsion in 1913 and 1915, "notwithstanding subsequent migrations of the river."

"In sum, therefore, it may be stated that the old abandoned Cow Islands Vendway Channel, known today as Scanlan's Chute, in its up-river end, then Frog Chute, Ike Chute, in its westerly area, and as a drain or creek between Ike Chute and 96 Chute in its down-river end, constitutes the boundary line between these two states."

Nordbye also recommended that a surveyor be hired to survey the boundary line and that it then be established by decree as the border between the two states.

The judge recommended that the costs be divided equally between the two states.

Senators Silent on Haynsworth

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — If President Nixon swayed any undecided senators with his strongly worded defense of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., they are keeping it to themselves.

The more than 20 Senators who hold the key to confirmation of Haynsworth's nomination to the Supreme Court didn't show any signs that Nixon's statement Monday would start a stampede to back the administration.

Such senior Republicans as George D. Aiken of Vermont and John J. Williams of Delaware still are listed as undecided with an expected vote on confirmation about two weeks off.

Nixon said at a surprise news conference Monday Haynsworth has been subjected to "vicious character assassination." The President said he would not withdraw his nomination even if Haynsworth requested him to do so.

Aiken said later he still hasn't decided how he will vote on Haynsworth's confirmation.

"I doubt if the President made any votes by his statement," Aiken commented.

7 Americans Killed in Fighting

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed seven Americans, wounded 18 others and damaged two helicopters in two sharp fights Monday near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. The U.S. Command announced that another 2,300 U.S. Marines are leaving South Vietnam this week under President Nixon's withdrawal program, including the first major elements of the 3rd Division's 4th Regiment to be pulled out. They are going to Okinawa.

The 4th Regiment, after 4½ years of tough combat from the coastal lowlands to the demilitarized zone, is the last regiment of the 3rd Division still in Vietnam. When it is gone, the only Marine division in the war will be the 1st Division, which is operating along the central lowlands south of Da Nang.

Hijacking Plan Strikes Trouble

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's strong support for sending airplane hijackers back to their take-off point has collided with its equally strong support for granting refuge to escapees from Communist countries.

The dilemma presented itself Sunday when two young East Germans forced a Polish Airliner with nine crewmen and 63 other passengers aboard to fly to West Berlin instead of East Berlin.

Although the plane landed at Tegel Field in the French sector, West Berlin is an international responsibility of the big powers. The United States, Britain and France already have started consulting on how to handle the case.

For the United States the immediate concern is how to avoid undermining its policy against hijacking by taking a stand in Germany consistent with its position on American planes pirated to Cuba.

The incident occurred at a time when the problem of hijacking is a major international concern, with action proposed both in the United Nations and the International Civil Aviation Organization—ICAO.

In a speech to the U.N. General Assembly last month President Nixon called for measures to deal with the problem.

American anxiety has grown over the forced flight of airliners to Cuba—44 from the United States since 1961.

In the ICAO the United States has been pressing for an international agreement which would require return of a hijacker to the country victimized by the hijacking.

Officials say, however, some other nations oppose a binding commitment of that kind.

Taking a 5-Year-Old to Dentist With You Is Awful Experience

By PHILIP ORAMOUS
Associated Press Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Taking a child to a dentist is an everyday event for many mothers, and some fathers.

But how many fathers have taken along a 5-year-old child when the appointment was for themselves, not the youngster's?

It's a frightening and rewarding experience for Daddy. The appointment was to have an old filling replaced in a front tooth. Due to the wife's other commitments, I was forced to take along Claudette, a curious, talkative tyke.

She had visited dentists' offices before, to have her teeth cleaned and for applications of fluoride. But this was a new, unfamiliar dentist.

On the way downtown I tried to explain that the dentist was her friend, just like the policeman on the corner, and we mustn't be afraid of him.

Testimony in Kennedy Case Conflicting

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia medical examiner says an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne "would tend to confirm, tend to modify, or could negate" the drowning verdict issued by a medical examiner in Massachusetts.

Dr. Joseph W. Spelman said he had performed several thousand autopsies and that an external examination alone, such as was performed on Miss Kopechne, "even if carefully and thoroughly done, frequently failed to reveal internal injuries."

Spelman was a key witness Monday in Common Pleas Court during the first day of a hearing on a petition by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., to have the body of the pretty, 28-year-old secretary exhumed.

Dinis said he expected to finish his presentation today and that he would subpoena a videotape of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's nationally televised statement on events before and after the girl's body was found in his car.

Her father, Joseph A. Kopechne, also said he was prepared to testify.

Dinis maintains he needs an autopsy for an inquest he has scheduled into the death. In his petition to Judge Bernard C. Brominski, Dinis said the condition of the body when recovered "may or may not have been consistent with death by drowning."

Armand Fernandes Jr., a Dinis assistant, was admonished by the court Monday for repeatedly asking Dr. Donald R. Mills, the Massachusetts medical examiner, and Spelman whether the presence of bloody froth about the mouth or nose could be associated with manual strangulation.

Fernandes also raised the possibility of manual strangulation.

Okinawa to Be Returned to Japan

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan have reached an understanding for the return of Okinawa to Tokyo's administrative control by 1972 while maintaining the U.S. military base on the island, officials sources say.

The agreement will call for taking U.S. nuclear weapons off the island, held by the United States since the Japanese defeat in World War II, according to the officials.

President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato plan to issue a joint statement about the transfer when they conclude their Nov. 19-21 meeting in Washington, the officials said.

It will provide the date and the conditions to be embodied in a formal agreement negotiated after the Sato-Nixon meeting.

Negotiation of the final agreement, Nixon administration officials said, may take a year or more. When the United States and Japan reached an agreement in 1967 for the return of Iwo Jima and the Bonin Islands, it took seven months to negotiate the final details.

Officials say that the details are far more complicated in the case of Okinawa and the Ryukyu Islands. U.S. officials are

U.S. Merchant Fleet Gone, Foreign Ships Bring in Materials

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Since World War II the U.S. merchant fleet has been deteriorating and today 96 per cent of imported raw materials arrive in America aboard foreign ships.

The situation is so serious that the new chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, Helen D. Bentley, says it is necessary to act now "before our own stupidity and the Russians bury us at sea."

In a Washington speech, Mrs. Bentley said the Russians speak "of the foreign ports they enter and boast of the fact that their seamen serve as ambassadors to the people of other countries, cementing friendship for Russia and advancing the Communist view among the people of foreign lands."

The Nixon Administration has indicated it wants at least 30 per cent of the nation's overseas trade handled on American ships by the mid-1970s.

The AFL-CIO at its 1969 convention in Atlantic City bent even further, passing a resolution saying:

"We must aggressively seek a declaration by the administration and Congress that at least 50 per cent of our foreign trade should be carried in American bottoms."

Immediately after World War II, American flag ships carried 57.6 per cent of U.S. foreign trade. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 per cent. The United States now ranks sixth in the number of cargo ships and fifth in cargo capacity.

Insofar as raw materials are concerned, the United States is almost entirely an importer. Television sets, yard chairs, stoves, automobiles—almost every item around an American home represents the use of raw materials brought to this country by ships.

The list of most import items is long and impressive. A few and the amount of import in relation to use: bauxite for aluminum, 87 per cent; columbite-tantalite used in aerospace and nuclear activity, 100; chrome for ammunition and jet engines,

IRS Plan to Sell Tax Returns Data Hits as Invasion of Privacy

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is considering selling some data collected from tax returns to private businesses, which could—in the opinion of one congressman—encourage an invasion of privacy.

Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., says the information also will target the nation's citizenry for tons of junk mail.

O'Hara said in a statement Monday morning that a half-dozen firms engaged in direct mail advertising—including the biggest in the industry—are seeking the information.

Among them, he said, are Sears, Roebuck and Co.; Spiegel, Inc.; Associated Merchandising Corp.; American Mail Associates, Inc.; and R. L. Polk and Co., which furnishes mailing lists to various businesses promoting their products through direct mail advertising.

Since 1960, the IRS has published income statistics for the nation's major metropolitan areas. This year, by using the first three digits of the five-digit zip code taken from every taxpayer's return, it published the information for 827 zip code regions.

The information shows the number of returns and levels of income in each area, and has

Wants Agnew to Cut Out Accusations

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken, the senate's Senior Republican, said today he expects practically all U.S. ground forces will be out of Vietnam within a year.

About the same time, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee put off its hearings on the war until after President Nixon's Nov. 3 policy report to the nation.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, announced postponement of the Vietnam hearings, which had been scheduled to begin next Monday.

"As a matter of courtesy, it seemed proper for the committee to defer its hearings until after the President has spoken," Fulbright said.

The Foreign Relations Inquiry is to deal with a series of resolutions seeking U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Aiken said he has been kept well informed on the progress of Nixon's troop withdrawal policy.

"Unless the unexpected happens, I expect that all our ground troops will be withdrawn by a year from now," Aiken said.

The Vermont senator made the forecast in a statement prepared for Senate delivery.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott meanwhile called for tolerance and an end to the "name calling and accusation" in the debate over Vietnam. Without naming him, Scott obviously aimed his remarks at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Scott, in his most evident disagreement with the White House since his election the GOP's Senate leader a month ago, said "the administration must accept the sincere intent of this debate and of demonstrations" as a phenomenon of freedom and a product of anguish over the war.

The Pennsylvania senator said such protests "will not be stifled or talked down."

In New York, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the administration has "listened with respect" to opponents of the war.

"Our President is striving for peace in ways that only the man in that office can," Rogers said at the Council of Churches annual "Family of Man" awards dinner.

Louisiana Has Eye on Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Gale force winds from 100-mile-an-hour Hurricane Laurie began whipping Louisiana's offshore waters near the mouth of the Mississippi River today.

The powerful storm lost forward speed during the morning as it moved sluggishly through the Gulf of Mexico. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Laurie would have a slow and erratic movement today but that a drift toward the northeast was indicated.

At 7 a.m. the hurricane center was located about 230 miles south of New Orleans after drifting eastward at 5 m.p.h. for a few hours.

Thousands of residents along Louisiana's vulnerable low coast fled inland for fear of being trapped in a danger zone.

If Laurie, the eighth hurricane of the season, curved more to the northeast, she could move onto Mississippi's coast, devastated by Hurricane Camille two months ago, or even farther east to Alabama or Florida.

A hurricane watch was in force from Galveston, Tex., to Apalachicola, Fla.— some 600 miles.

Due to her shift to the east, the Weather Bureau said the threat to the Texas and west Louisiana coast had lessened—but that the hurricane watch should remain.

The hurricane sent howling gales whipping the sea for 160 miles to the north and east of its center.

The most extensive exodus Monday was from Lafourche Parish (county), to the west of New Orleans, where civil defense asked some 25,000 residents to move to refuge centers at Lockport, Raceland and Thibodaux.

Mayonnaise Being Used by Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal drug expert says youngsters in some parts of the country have taken to injecting peanut butter and mayonnaise into their veins as a substitute for narcotics.

In several documented cases the result has been death, Ernest A. Caraballo Jr., a lawyer-pharmacist in the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, told a news conference Monday.

Caraballo said the information that peanut butter and mayonnaise would send users "on a little trip" was contained in an underground recipe book purporting to outline "culinary escapes from reality."

Other recent fads, he said, included the use of paregoric, cleaning fluid, the local anesthetic ethylchloride and freon, the pressurized propellant gas in aerosols.

Caraballo said users of narcotic substitutes confused the bizarre and toxic reactions with the so-called "high" provided by such drugs as heroin or marijuana. He cited the smoking of dried banana skins, a fad of a couple of years ago, as an example.

Frank Gulich, a narcotics bureau official stationed in Chicago, said the underground "cook books" usually sell for about $1 and often give the formulas for preparing drugs such as LSD. Drug users, Gulich said, are "always looking for new drugs that won't be a violation of the law."

Caraballo and Gulich appeared at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Caraballo urged hospital and control centers to help the narcotics bureau by reporting new fads among users of drugs or substitutes.

"Hopefully, with this type of information, we can eliminate the necessity of waiting for widespread manifestation of a particular form of abuse," he said.

He did not specify the areas where the peanut butter-mayonnaise fad had cropped up, or how many deaths had been caused.

Would Crack Down on Pardons

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Richard Earl Griffin of Crossett Monday identified the solutions to the rising crime rate as stricter pardon and parole procedures and more and better-paid law officers.

Griffin, considered a likely candidate for attorney general next year, made the remarks in a speech to the West Memphis Rotary Club.

He said 46 per cent of the total number arrested in 1967 and 1968 had been imprisoned before.

"In other words, our pardon, parole and rehabilitation policies are only 54 per cent successful and the failure seems to be more obvious in the area where it should be most successful," Griffin said.

"The public, as well as the courts, juries and pardon and parole systems have been more lenient with the youthful offender," he said. "This appears, in everyone's opinion, to be the type offender that can best be rehabilitated. . . The facts indicate, though, that we have a 70

SNEAKIES NEVER PAY

Dear Helen: I am 13, and quite mature for my age, but after last night, I'm not sure.

You see, I have a steady but we aren't allowed to date. He asked me to go to the school dance with him, and I asked my mother, knowing her answer would be "NO!" That did not bother me much because my girl friend and I had already planned a way for me to get to the dance. She called and asked if I could spend the night, and of course my mother said "Yes."

But who should see us going into the school but my brother and his girl friend. He is 16, and therefore allowed to go anywhere.

Helen, I'm scared he might tell. His girl friend said he'd be a flink if he did, but he just smiled funny. I've caught HIM in a lot of things my folks do not know. Would it be right to use them as what you might call blackmail?—CAUGHT IN A SNEAKY

Dear Sneaky: . . . Not unless you want to be blackmailed in return. I doubt that your brother will tell, but YOU'd better level with your mother while there's still time to regain her trust. Confession implies repentance. If you make it plain you've learned your lesson (Hope you have) and won't try a sneaky again, you may even be allowed to attend the next school dance.

On the other hand, if she finds out for herself that you lied (and she will) prepare for a long, cold, boyfriendless winter!—H.

Firms to Sell Soft Drinks Already Bottled

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two of the three firms in Arkansas that produce soft drinks containing cyclamates say they will sell the products already bottled.

Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch announced Saturday that all food and drinks containing cyclamates, the most popular type of artificial sweeteners, must be removed from grocery shelves by Feb. 1. He also said that the sale of soft drinks containing cyclamates—among them Coca Cola's "Tab" and "Fresca," Pepsi Cola's "Diet Pepsi," and Royal Crown's "Diet-Rite"—will be prohibited after Jan. 1.

Finch said evidence had been found that linked the substance with cancer in animals.

Howard Stebbins, general manager of the Coca-Cola

Bottling Co. of Arkansas, said the sales of the already-bottled product would continue and that his plant has "quite a supply" of Tab and Fresca on hand. "We're going to comply with the law," he said. "There's nothing immediately tragic about this. After all, cigarettes and liquor can kill you if you take enough of it."

He said no decision about continued bottling of the diet drinks had been made.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hollywood producers and directors have learned how to dress up musical numbers for an endless stream of television variety hours, but most slip into old-time comedy sketch department.

"The Carol Burnett Show," breezing along in its fourth season, is, along with "The Red Skelton Show," exceptional in that it specializes in sketches and adds musical numbers mostly for a change of pace. The hour is entertaining and has a friendly informal atmosphere.

On Monday Carol had her usual strong support from Harvey Korman, a fine sketch actor, and an extra assist from Tim Conway, a funny little guy. Conway sparked particularly as a 91-year-old Lohario in a sketch that satirized the slow and improbable pace of daytime soap operas.

Ken Berry, seen earlier in the evening playing solid Sam Brown in "Mayberry, R.F.D.," put on his dancing shoes to guest on the show and uncorked a thoroughly acceptable singing voice in a couple of numbers with the star.

As if Lana Turner and her "Survivors" on ABC didn't have enough to contend with, NBC on Monday scheduled her 1961 film "By Love Possessed" to compete with Tracy Carlyle's dramatic reunion—they were fencing—with the father of her child.

ABC's extravagant excursion into evening soap opera first ran into tough production problems and now languishes in the bottom third of the Nielsen list. In the most recent ratings, the show is in 59th position, tied with another disappointment, NBC's "Andy Williams Show," in a roster of 80.

overtaking NBC for the lead in the averages for the first time this season. CBS had 18.5, with NBC at 17.7 and ABC 16.9.

The new list had some happy surprises for ABC. Its "Movie of the Week" was in first place, followed by NBC's "Laugh-In," "Marcus Welby, M.D.," Robert Young's new doctor show on ABC, was third followed by the network's broadcast of the feature film, "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines."

As the season settles down, it appears that NBC's "Bill Cosby Show"—fifth on the list—is holding its position handily, primarily at the expense of CBS's "Ed Sullivan Show," in 49th.

CBS's "Gunsmoke," NBC's "Bonanza," CBS's "Jackie Gleason Show," "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour" and "Family Affair," tied with NBC's Disney hour make up the rest of the front-running shows.

Ashdown Beats Third Local Team

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sports Writer

Scoring the first time they got the ball, the Ashdown Panthers nipped the Hope "B" Lizards 6-0 last night at Hammons Stadium.

Once again breaks were the Lizards' downfall, including short punts and a fumble at the Ashdown 45. The "B" squad is now 1-5 for the year, with only one loss over a ten-point margin.

The Panther Jayvees started at their own 48, with the big gainer coming on a 33-yard pass from quarterback Charles Ward to end Burl Foster at the Hope ten. Then workhorse Mike Wade scored from there, with 6:34 left in the first quarter, and the 6-0 die was cast.

The Lizards came back with Isaiah Hendrix, and Rusty Quillin carrying the running load, and drove in 14 plays from the Hope 18 to the Ashdown 15. Then came the costly fumble, and the Panthers weren't threatened as bad any more.

Quillin finished the night with 78 yards rushing on 17 carries, and Hendrix ran 11 times for 61 yards before leaving permanently with an ankle sprain. Wade totaled 71 on 20 attempts to pace the Ashdown attack.

Linemen for the "B" Lizards who showed up well included Tim White, Hiram Reynolds, Jessie Henry, Richard Stuart, and Rodney Burke. The secondary of Stan James, who intercepted a pass; Jack Turner, who got an interception last Monday night against Prescott, Anthony Davis, and Terry Vines were credited with a good game.

Maynard and Namath Down the Oilers

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — When Don Maynard shows American Football League pass defenders the No. 13 on the back of his New York Jets jersey, they're usually out of luck.

Maynard, a slick speedster in his 12th pro season, gave Houston's Miller Farr and Ken Houston the back of his shirt Monday night as the Jets downed the Oilers 26-17 to grab first place in the AFL East.

Joe Namath fired touchdown strikes of 57 and 54 yards to Maynard and Jim Turner kicked four field goals as the Jets won their home opener before a roaring Shea Stadium crowd of 63,641—largest in AFL history.

Maynard streaked past Farr with 6½ minutes remaining in the second quarter and took Namath's floater in for a 10-7 New York lead.

Then, 18 seconds before the halftime gun, he snared another — as Houston slipped and fell on the chewed-up Shea turf — and loped into the end zone, tying Art Powell's AFL career record of 81 touchdowns.

"You've got to use a few more moves on these guys after 11 years," said the slender Texan.

Williams Is Manager of the Year

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The ragamuffin cast was virtually the same, but Washington's Senators produced an astonishing about-face last season thanks to the personal magnetism and knowledge of the game that made Ted Williams baseball's last 400-hitter.

The freshman manager, who readily admitted he was uneasy about bossing a club despite a million dollar contract, took a collection on ball players that finished dead last the season before and guided them to their first winning season in 17 years.

And, for that bit of masterminding, Williams has been named The Associated Press' American League manager of the year in a nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Williams attracted 113 votes in the balloting—11 more than another freshman manager, Billy Martin, who was dismissed after leading the Minnesota Twins to the Western Division championship.

Earl Weaver, who guided the Baltimore Orioles to a runaway triumph in the Eastern Division, was third with 70 votes. Lefty Phillips, a mid-season replacement who guided California to third place, received one vote.

Williams is in Zambia, Africa, filming a hunting show for television and was not available for comment.

However, late in the season he scoffed at the idea when it was suggested that he might be named the AL's manager of the year.

The award should go to Weaver, Williams said, because he won the pennant and "that's what you're supposed to do."

"I can tell you one thing," he added, "I'm not going to any of those banquets if I get it."

Williams had never managed anywhere until Bob Short, owner of the Senators, lured him away from a leisure life of hunting and fishing with a salary and stock in the Senators that totaled more than a million dollars.

Williams was presented at the start of the season with a group of players that had won only 65 of 161 games in 1968.

But he "bubbles with enthusiasm and it's contagious," said Ed Brinkman, summing up the respect that Williams commanded from his players.

Under the master teacher, Frank Howard had his greatest year ever, and players such as Mike Epstein, Brinkman and Hank Allen turned from .220 hitters into .280 hitters. Even the pitching staff improved 100 per cent.

The end result was a 86-76 campaign and a fourth place finish—the first time since 1952 that the Senators had finished better than .500 and the first time since 1946 that they had finished as high as fourth.

Martin, the peppery former New York Yankee second baseman, took Minnesota from a seventh place finish in 1968 to the divisional title.

But he was continually undermining himself, feuding first with Williams, then the Twins' front office officials and finally with Minnesota's 20-game winner Dave Boswell outside a Detroit bar.

And, although Martin was popular with Twin fans, owner Calvin Griffith fired him after the season ended.

Chargers Are Having Scoring Troubles

By RON ROACH

Associated Press Sports Writer SAN DIEGO (AP) — The San Diego Chargers' explosive but mostly pointless offense must feel snake-bitten.

The Chargers eked out their fourth straight American Football League victory, 13-10 Sunday at Boston, after two opening defeats. Only once this season have they scored more than 21 points, a 34-21 win over New York.

Six times San Diego marched to within 21 yards of the Patriots' goal without getting anything more than field goal attempts.

"Just give me some blankety-blank way to get the ball over the goal," Coach Sid Gillman said Monday at the Quarterback Club meeting. "It seems every time we get down there, we're hit by a series of circumstances (fumbles, broken plays). It's hard to explain."

"We're hopeful the cash register will begin to ring. It had better by next Sunday, that I guarantee."

That's when the Chargers meet the unbeaten but once-ted Oakland Raiders in San Diego Stadium.

Eichler to Start for Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — John Eichler, a fifty-year senior from Stuttgart, will start at quarterback Saturday when the fourth-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks take on Wichita State at Little Rock.

Coach Frank Broyles announced Monday night that Eichler would start in place of Bill Montgomery, who is still nursing bruised ribs suffered several weeks ago.

Eichler broke his ankle in the middle of the 1967 season after starting several games. He and Gordon Norwood played behind Montgomery during last year's 10-4 season.

The varsity practiced in pads Monday, but Montgomery ran in sweat clothes.

Flanker Chuck Dieus, who is closing in on the Arkansas passing record, will also miss Saturday's game. He received a shoulder injury while making a 48-yard pass reception in the Baylor game.

Broyles said Wichita State has run 40 different offensive formations and as many as 11 in one half.

"They have the most varied offense we have ever faced," Broyles said. "They are a gambling type football team. They are gambling to create mistakes, and we've got to work to keep from making those mistakes."

Linebackers Lynn Garner and Cliff Powell, offensive tackle Bob Stankovich and split end David Cox will serve as captains for the Wichita State game.

meet the unbeaten but once-ted Oakland Raiders in San Diego Stadium.

"It will take the same type of effort we had against the New York Jets," Gillman said.

While the Chargers have scored a total of 55 points in their last three games, Oakland tallied 50 in crushing Buffalo Sunday.

Racer to Join American Motors Firm

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who heads one of America's most successful auto racing teams, will join American Motors for the 1970 season, the Associated Press learned today.

Penske and AMC are expected to announce a five-year deal at a news conference scheduled in Los Angeles Wednesday. The contract is said to involve as much as $5 million.

Back to Daugherty, it's not often someone puts one over on him, but tiny Hill-dale College did just that—and got a record

Hanging Out College Grid Wash

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash:

Is top-ranked Ohio State unbeatable? No, says Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, one of four to try—and fail—this season.

"But," he adds, "they're going to be a prohibitive favorite in every game. Woody Hayes is in an enviable position. If anyone gets fat-headed as a result of their success last year and this he can sit them down with no appreciable drop in talent."

"Ohio State is more mature and more experienced than a year ago. Not only is just about everybody back from last year, but they're got a lot of fine sophomores, whose primary purpose, I'm sure, is to keep last year's sophomores on their toes."

"They're got greater depth and experience than last year and they don't seem to have lost any incentive."

Best team ever, Duffy? "I wouldn't say that. They're as versatile as any team I've ever seen on offense, but I don't think they're as good defensively as our Michigan State teams of 1965 and 1966 or the Notre Dame team of 1966."

In those days, Michigan State featured Bubba Smith, George Webster and Jess Phillips on defense while Notre Dame spotlighted Alan Page, Kevin Hardy and Jim Lynch.

This week's grist for the Ohio State mill is Illinois, winner in five games but the last team to beat the Buckeyes. That occurred 18 games ago in 1967 and the score was 17-13. Last week, the Illini barely fell 31-24.

"We won't have a problem of overconfidence," says Hayes. "We've had too many squeakers with Illinois lately."

Back to Daugherty, it's not often someone puts one over on him, but tiny Hill-dale College did just that—and got a record

Runners-up in the PP&K competition at K-Park last Saturday were left to right: Bobby Levins, Fordyce; Danny Schaffner, Fordyce; Dennis Morgan, Fordyce; Ricky Talley, Magnolia; Corkey Pankey, Prescott and David Bolton, Prescott.

62-yard field goal out of sophomore Chester Marcol as a result.

When Marcol graduated from Imlay City, Mich., High School, his English wasn't the greatest, since his family had come over from Poland only a few years earlier.

"We couldn't get him in here because he couldn't pass the English entrance exam and they wouldn't let me give him the test myself," quipped Daugherty.

So Marcol's high school coach, who just happened to be a Hillsdale grad, took him to his alma mater, where Coach Frank "Muddy" Waters started thinking.

"Since he wasn't an American citizen at the time, we let him take English as a foreign language and enrolled him as a foreign student," laughed Waters. "I'm sure Duffy could have done the same thing if he'd thought of it."

Marcol booted his 62-yarder—it cleared the crossbar with room to spare—in Saturday's 20-13 victory over Fairmont, W. Va., State.

Cronin Cuts Out Talk of Pilots Move

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer CHICAGO (AP) — President Joe Cronin and a group of American League owners met with representatives of the Seattle Pilots Monday and put down any possibility of a franchise move.

Rumors that the Seattle franchise would be moved to Milwaukee or Dallas-Fort Worth were cut down by Cronin and attending league owners.

The session was informal and requested by Seattle interests who apparently feared reprisal over the fact the Pilots drew only 680,000 in their initial year.

Although a scheduled joint meeting of the American and National leagues is on tap Tuesday, Cronin said the American League had no plans for a separate meeting which would involve any shift of the Seattle franchise.

"Why they asked for this meeting, I don't know," said Cronin in reference to the Seattle delegation request for a meeting with the league. "We are concerned about some things in Seattle but nothing that can't be worked out."

The league set an Oct. 30 deadline for Seattle on three items, Lenny Anderson, Seattle Post-Intelligencer baseball writer, said.

The items are plans for expansion of the present stadium to 28,000, concrete facts indicating a permanent stadium will be ready by the spring of 1973 and notification of who would take over in the event of a change of ownership, Anderson said.

Major league transfers into minor league territory cannot take place after Oct. 31, but Milwaukee would be excluded because the minors aren't operating there.

No less than a half dozen representatives from Seattle were on hand including King County executive John Spellman; Perry Johanson, who heads a group designing a $40-million domed stadium; and Jerry Grinstein and Brian Corcoran, a pair of representatives of Sens. Warren Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

Everything seemed cordial following the meeting and John Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers, expressed the general view that it would be morally wrong to shift a new franchise out of Seattle.

Carol Mann managed only a second-place finish in the Quality Check'd tournament at Waco, Tex. Sunday but she stretched her lead in money winnings on the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour to $1,919.

Miss Mann's performance brought her $1,450 and she now has $46,515 in official and unofficial winnings on the tour, the LPGA headquarters here announced today.

Kathy Whitworth, second in money winnings, finished in a tie for seventy and now has won $44,596.

Mary Mills' victory at Waco, worth $2,250, still wasn't enough to boot her into the top 10 money winners. She is 17th with $13,803.

Sandra Palmer moved into 10th position among money winners with her total of $17,044. That dropped Sharon Miller to 11th.

The gal golfers will stay in Texas this week, playing in the $15,000 Corpus Christi Civitan Open at Corpus Christi.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG
Don't Neglect Water on the Knee

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What causes water on the knee? Is there a cure for it?
A—This may result from an injury or some form of arthritis. In the acute stage, a tight bandage is applied, the knee is kept elevated with an ice bag balanced on it. It may be necessary to draw off the fluid with a needle and inject a small amount of hydrocortisone into the joint. In any case, don't neglect it.
Q—I am 72 and am on my feet a lot. My doctor says I have bursitis in my right knee. What causes it and how can I get rid of it?
A—Infection, gout, diabetes or prolonged strenuous use of your knee will cause an inflammation of the bursa, a sac that lubricates the joint. For mild cases, rubbing the knee with an ice cube until it feels numb is helpful. A direct injection of hydrocortisone into the joint will reduce the inflammation, but, unless the cause is removed, the relief will be temporary.

Q—What causes adhesive capsulitis or a frozen shoulder? Can it spread? Is there any cure for it?
A—Since this is usually the result of bursitis, the causes and treatment listed for bursitis of the knee would apply. There is no direct spreading of this disease.
Q—What is meant by "a mouse in the joint"?
A—In persons with osteoarthritis, fringes of the synovium, after repeated irritation, change to cartilage. Further injury causes small bits of this new cartilage to break off and become loose in the joint. This can be very painful and may cause locking of the joint.

One of the late Irvin Cobb's best stories was the one about the man who ordered ham and eggs with the eggs eliminated. After long consultation in the kitchen, the cook came out and explained that the eliminator had been broken and he would have to take his eggs some other way.

Today's hand is taken from the Reese-Dormer book, "How to Play a Better Game of Bridge." South can't tell in advance whether or not this eliminator is broken but he hopes that it isn't, because there is no other way to make his contract.

The defense starts out with three rounds of diamonds. South ruffs the third diamond. He makes a mental note that a lucky player would have found the ace in front of the king rather than in back. Then, if he knows what he is doing, will proceed to make his contract anyway.

He starts by playing his ace of spades. This leaves the king as the only missing trump. Then he eliminates the clubs by cashing the ace and king. So far, his eliminator has worked perfectly.

His next plays are the ace and king of hearts. Then he leads a second spade. West is in with the king and, lo and behold, the elimination

Family of the Year

L. J. Hampton Family Selected Hempstead's Farm Family of Year

The L. J. Hampton family of Oakhaven has been honored by being named Hempstead County "Farm Family of the Year." The Hampton's four children are: Joyce (Mrs. Eugene Collum), Joe who is married to the former Miss Audrey Rowe and soon after they became tenant farmers. They bought the present farm in 1955 and built a very spacious home. The home place is all in pasture and the soybean crop is on rented ground, some of which he has rented for over 20 years. Mr. Hampton averages about 30 bushels per acre. His calf crop averages better than 90 per cent. The Hamptons are active in the Farm Bureau, the Cattleman's Association, the National Farmers Organization, and the Extension Homemakers Club. He is a past member of the county A.S.C.S. Board. The children were all active in 4-H Future Homemakers Association and Future Farmers of America, as well as other school activities when they were in school.

A wise selection was made in choosing the Hamptons. Their principal crop is soybeans, and they also have a beef herd. The Hamptons well deserve this honor. Mr. Hampton started farming 1969 Farm Family of the Year.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hampton and son Donald of Oakhaven.

Arkansas Farm Family of Year to Be Picked Week of Nov. 17-21

This week most of the counties in Arkansas are honoring all their farm families by singling out one to be recognized as "Farm Family of the Year."

This marks the first step in a unique recognition program developed immediately following World War II and continued on an uninterrupted basis since by the Arkansas Power and Light Company, the Arkansas Press Association, and cooperating agencies and organizations.

The county Farm Family of the Year is selected by a special committee charged with the responsibility of considering all farm families in the light of leadership, efficiency in production, home improvement, home management, and evidence of a well-planned, long-range program.

Any farm family is eligible for consideration. The family may be in either tenant or owner category, and may have income from sources other than agriculture.

The county farm families being announced this week are eligible for consideration as one of the five district Farm Family of the Year. This judging is to be completed by October 31, and finally, during the week of November 17-21, the "Arkansas Farm Family of the Year" will be selected.

All families selected to represent their county will receive suitably engraved plaques. In most instances the plaques will be presented at public gatherings where the overall contribution of agricultural enterprises is recognized.

The purpose of this program is to provide recognition for an outstanding farm family in each county who is making significant contributions toward maintaining agriculture as a vital segment of our economy. Recognition is also based on the leadership provided by the family in community developmental activities.

There is every indication that families with very impressive accomplishments have been selected at the county level again this year, and that competition will once again be in evidence for district and state honors.

7 Americans Killed in Fighting

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops killed seven Americans, wounded 18 others and damaged two helicopters in two sharp fights Monday near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. The U.S. Command announced that another 2,300 U.S. Marines are leaving South Vietnam this week under President Nixon's withdrawal program, including the first major element of the 3rd Division's 4th Regiment to be pulled out. They are going to Okinawa.

The 4th Regiment, after 4½ years of tough combat from the coastal lowlands to the demilitarized zone, is the last regiment of the 3rd Division still in Vietnam. When it is gone, the only Marine division in the war will be the 1st Division, which is operating along the central lowlands south of Da Nang.

Hijacking Plan Strikes Trouble

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's strong support for sending airplane hijackers back to their take-off point has collided with its equally strong support for granting refuge to escapees from Communist countries.

The dilemma presented itself Sunday when two young East Germans forced a Polish Airliner with nine crewmen and 63 other passengers aboard to fly to West Berlin instead of East Berlin.

Although the plane landed at Tegel Field in the French sector, West Berlin is an international responsibility of the big powers. The United States, Britain and France already have started consulting on how to handle the case.

For the United States the immediate concern is how to avoid undermining its policy against hijacking by taking a stand in Germany consistent with its position on American planes pirated to Cuba.

The incident occurred at a time when the problem of hijacking is a major international concern, with action proposed both in the United Nations and the International Civil Aviation Organization—ICAO.

In a speech to the U.N. General Assembly last month President Nixon called for measures to deal with the problem. American anxiety has grown over the forced flight of airliners to Cuba—44 from the United States since 1961.

In the ICAO the United States has been pressing for an international agreement which would require return of a hijacker to the country victimized by the hijacking.

Officials say, however, some other nations oppose a binding commitment of that kind.

Taking a 5-Year-Old to Dentist With You Is Awful Experience

By PHILIP ORAMOUS
Associated Press Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Taking a child to a dentist is an everyday event for many mothers, and some fathers.

But how many fathers have taken along a 5-year-old child when the appointment was for themselves, not the youngster's?

It's a frightening and rewarding experience for Daddy. The appointment was to have an old filling replaced in a front tooth. Due to the wife's other commitments, I was forced to take along Claudette, a curious, talkative tyke.

She had visited dentists' offices before, to have her teeth cleaned and for applications of fluoride. But this was a new, unfamiliar dentist.

On the way downtown I tried to explain that the dentist was her friend, just like the policeman on the corner, and we mustn't be afraid of him.

"If he does hurt you," I ex-

Testimony in Kennedy Case Conflicting

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A Philadelphia medical examiner says an autopsy on the body of Mary Jo Kopechne "would tend to confirm, tend to modify, or could negate" the drowning verdict issued by a medical examiner in Massachusetts.

Dr. Joseph W. Spelman said he had performed several thousand autopsies and that an external examination alone, such as was performed on Miss Kopechne, "even if carefully and thoroughly done, frequently failed to reveal internal injuries."

Spelman was a key witness Monday in Common Pleas Court during the first day of a hearing on a petition by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., to have the body of the pretty, 28-year-old secretary exhumed.

Dinis said he expected to finish his presentation today and that he would subpoena a videotape of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's nationally televised statement on events before and after the girl's body was found in his car.

Her father, Joseph A. Kopechne, also said he was prepared to testify.

Dinis maintains he needs an autopsy for an inquest he has scheduled into the death. In his petition to Judge Bernard C. Brominski, Dinis said the condition of the body when recovered "may or may not have been consistent with death by drowning."

Armand Fernandes Jr., a Dinis assistant, was admonished by the court Monday for repeatedly asking Dr. Donald R. Mills, the Massachusetts medical examiner, and Spelman whether the presence of bloody froth about the mouth or nose could be associated with manual strangulation.

Fernandes also raised the possibility of a "strangulation."

Okinawa to Be Returned to Japan

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan have reached an understanding for the return of Okinawa to Tokyo's administrative control by 1972 while maintaining the U.S. military base on the island, official sources say.

The agreement will call for taking U.S. nuclear weapons off the island, held by the United States since the Japanese defeat in World War II, according to the officials.

President Nixon and Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato plan to issue a joint statement about the transfer when they conclude their Nov. 19-21 meeting in Washington, the officials said.

It will provide the date and the conditions to be embodied in a formal agreement negotiated after the Sato-Nixon meeting.

Negotiation of the final agreement, Nixon administration officials said, may take a year or more. When the United States and Japan reached an agreement in 1967 for the return of Iwo Jima and the Bonin Islands, it took seven months to negotiate the final details.

Officials say that the details are far more complicated in the case of Okinawa and the Ryukyu Islands. U.S. officials are

U.S. Merchant Fleet Gone, Foreign Ships Bring in Materials

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Since World War II the U.S. merchant fleet has been deteriorating and today 96 per cent of imported raw materials arrive in America aboard foreign ships.

The situation is so serious that the new chairman of the U.S. Maritime Commission, Helen D. Bentley, says it is necessary to act now "before our own stupidity and the Russians bury us at sea."

In a Washington speech, Mrs. Bentley said the Russians speak "of the foreign ports they enter and boast of the fact that their seamen serve as ambassadors to the people of other countries, cementing friendship for Russia and advancing the Communist view among the people of foreign lands."

The Nixon Administration has indicated it wants at least 30 per cent of the nation's overseas trade handled on American ships by the mid-1970s.

The AFL-CIO at its 1969 convention in Atlantic City bent even further, passing a resolution saying:

"We must aggressively seek a declaration by the administration and Congress that at least 50 per cent of our foreign trade should be carried in American bottoms."

Immediately after World War II, American flag ships carried 57.6 per cent of U.S. foreign trade. By 1968 the figure had dropped to 6.4 per cent. The United States now ranks sixth in the number of cargo ships and fifth in cargo capacity.

Insofar as raw materials are concerned, the United States is almost entirely an importer. Television sets, yard chairs, stoves, automobiles—almost every item around an American home represents the use of raw materials brought to this country by ships.

The list of most import items is long and impressive. A few and the amount of import in relation to use: bauxite for aluminum, 87 per cent; columbite-tantalite used in aerospace and nuclear activity, 100; chrome for ammunition and jet engines.

IRS Plan to Sell Tax Returns Data Hits as Invasion of Privacy

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is considering selling some data collected from tax returns to private businesses, which could—in the opinion of one congressman—encourage an invasion of privacy.

Rep. James O'Hara, D-Mich., says the information also will target the nation's citizenry for tons of junk mail.

O'Hara said in a statement Monday more than a half-dozen firms engaged in direct mail advertising—including the biggest in the industry—are seeking the information.

Among them, he said, are Sears, Roebuck and Co.; Spiegel, Inc.; Associated Merchandising Corp.; American Mail Associates, Inc.; and R. L. Polk and Co., which furnishes mailing lists to various businesses promoting their products through direct mail advertising.

Since 1960, the IRS has published income statistics for the nation's major metropolitan areas. This year, by using the first three digits of the five-digit zip code taken from every taxpayer's return, it published the information for 827 zip code regions.

The information shows the number of returns and levels of income in each area, and has

Wants Agnew to Cut Out Accusations

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken, the senate's Senior Republican, said today he expects practically all U.S. ground forces will be out of Vietnam within a year.

About the same time, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee put off its hearings on the war until after President Nixon's Nov. 3 policy report to the nation.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, announced postponement of the Vietnam hearings, which had been scheduled to begin next Monday.

"As a matter of courtesy, it seemed proper for the committee to defer its hearings until after the President has spoken," Fulbright said.

The Foreign Relations Inquiry is to deal with a series of resolutions seeking U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Aiken said he has been kept well informed on the progress of Nixon's troop withdrawal policy.

"Unless the unexpected happens, I expect that all our ground troops will be withdrawn by a year from now," Aiken said.

The Vermont senator made the forecast in a statement prepared for Senate delivery.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott meanwhile called for tolerance and an end to the "name calling and accusation" in the debate over Vietnam. Without naming him, Scott obviously aimed his remarks at Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

Scott, in his most evident disagreement with the White House since his election the GOP's Senate leader a month ago, said "the administration must accept the sincere intent of this debate and of demonstrations" as a phenomenon of freedom and a product of anguish over the war.

The Pennsylvania senator said such protests "will not be stifled or talked down."

In New York, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said the administration has "listened with respect" to opponents of the war.

"Our President is striving for peace in ways that only the man in that office can," Rogers said at the Council of Churches annual "Family of Man" awards dinner.

Louisiana Has Eye on Hurricane

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Gale force winds from 100-mile-an-hour Hurricane Laurie began whipping Louisiana's offshore waters near the mouth of the Mississippi River today.

The powerful storm lost forward speed during the morning as it moved sluggishly through the Gulf of Mexico. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said Laurie would have a slow and arctic movement today but that a drift toward the northeast was indicated.

At 7 a.m. the hurricane center was located about 230 miles south of New Orleans after drifting eastward at 5 m.p.h. for a few hours.

Thousands of residents along Louisiana's vulnerable low coast fled inland for fear of being trapped in a danger zone.

If Laurie, the eighth hurricane of the season, curved more to the northeast, she could move onto Mississippi's coast, devastated by Hurricane Camille two months ago, or even farther east to Alabama or Florida.

A hurricane watch was in force from Galveston, Tex., to Apalachicola, Fla.—some 600 miles.

Due to her shift to the east, the Weather Bureau said the threat to the Texas and west Louisiana coast had lessened—but that the hurricane watch should remain.

The hurricane sent howling gales whipping the sea for 160 miles to the north and east of its center.

The most extensive exodus Monday was from Lafourche Parish (county), to the west of New Orleans, where civil defense asked some 25,000 residents to move to refuge centers at Lockport, Raceland and Thibodaux.

Club to Serve Pancakes on Friday p.m.

Hot pancakes, sausage, butter and syrup, served with milk or coffee, that's the menu at Hope High School Cafeteria, beginning at 5 p.m. this Friday, October 24th immediately preceding the Hope Bobcat-Magnolia Panther Football game. . .

Yes, this Friday evening is the time the Hope Kiwanis Club will be involved in their Annual Pancake Supper, one of the two annual projects of the local Kiwanis Club for providing funds for their youth work in our community.

What is the Kiwanis Club doing for our youth? Perhaps the most concrete evidence of Kiwanis Youth Activity is K Park, a plot of ground bought and paid for by the Kiwanis Club and developed over the last few years, with some help from other groups, into one of the finest youth ball parks in all of Arkansas. K Park is used regularly for youth sports events, with hundreds of "kids" using it each year.

At the present time most of the Kiwanis Youth Funds are being pledged toward a new Youth or Community Center.
